The original picture was a votive offering from Sigismondo Conti, (secretary to Pope Julius II.,) whose portrait is introduced next to St. Jerome. After his death his niece had the picture removed from the altar of the church Ara Coeli, in Rome, to the church Santa Anna della Contessa, in Foligno, where she was a nun. By the order of Napoleon it was removed to Paris, with the other art-treasures of Italy. After the allies entered Paris it was returned to Italy, and is now in the Vatican.

- 9 RAPHAEL, pinx. La Vierge au Linge. Brilliant impression, with the engraver's stamp, A. D. within a circle.

The original picture is in the Gallery of the Louvre.

- 10 RAPHAEL, pinx. La Vierge au Poisson, — Paris, 1822. Brilliant impression, with the engraver's stamp, A. D. within a circle.

The original picture, now in the Gallery of Madrid, was painted as an altar-piece for St. Dominic, a church in Naples much visited by persons afflicted by ophthalmic diseases. This accounts for the introduction of Tobias with the fish in the picture.

- 11 LEONARDO DA VINCI, pinx. La Vierge aux Rochers. Brilliant impression of the plate, with the engraver's stamp of two antique heads.

There are two states after the one represented by the above; namely, one with the initials A. D. within a circle, the other without any stamp.

The original picture was painted for the Chapel of the Conception, of the Franciscan Church in Milan, and is now owned by the Earl of Suffolk and is at Charlton Park. This engraving was made from a repetition in the Gallery of the Louvre.

- 12 PERINO DEL VAGA, pinx. The Muses and Pierides, — 1829. Brilliant impression, with the engraver's stamp, A. D.

The original painting, which is at present ascribed to Rosso de Rossi, "le maître Roux," is in the Gallery of the Louvre.

- 27 RAPHAEL, pinx. Madonna del Cardellino, 1830. Splendid ARTIST'S PROOF upon India paper. Very scarce. The original picture is in the Tribune of the Uffizi Gallery in Florence.

NARCISSE LECOMTE.

Born at Paris, 1794.

- 28 RAPHAEL, pinx. Holy Family called La Perle. Superb ARTIST'S PROOF upon India paper. First state with the round white spots upon the cradle.

The original picture was bought by King Charles the First, of England, from the Gallery of the Duke of Mantua. When the works of art of that unfortunate monarch were dispersed by the order of the Commonwealth, it was purchased by the Spanish ambassador for King Philip the Fourth of Spain, who, upon beholding it, exclaimed, "This is my pearl," — hence its name.

ACHILLE DÉSIRÉ LEFEVRE.

Born at Paris, 1798. Still living and working there.

- 29 CORREGGIO, pinx. Jupiter and Antiope. Splendid PROOF BEFORE LETTERS. Very brilliant. The original picture, successively in the collections of King Charles the First, of England, the banker Jabach, of Cologne, and Cardinal Mazarin, passed, after the death of the latter, into the possession of Louis the Fourteenth, and is now in the Gallery of the Louvre.

- 30 CORREGGIO, pinx. La Notte. "The Holy Night," — 1851.

- 31 CORREGGIO, pinx. Madonna with St. Sebastian, St. Geminianus, and St. Roch. Splendid PROOF BEFORE LETTERS, upon India paper. Very brilliant.

The original picture is in the Dresden Gallery, it having been obtained with the Gallery of the Duke of Modena.

- 32 RAPHAEL, pinx. St. Cecilia in ecstasy listening to the choir of angels, — 1857. Splendid PROOF BEFORE LETTERS, upon India paper.

The original picture, now in the Gallery of Bologna, was ordered by the, afterwards beatified, Lady Elena Duglioli del Oglio for the Chapel of St. Cecilia, which she founded in San Giovanni del Monte in Bologna. When it was finished, Raphael addressed it to the care of the venerable Francesco Francia, with the modest request, to retouch the work if it should have suffered while on the way, or if he should find any faults of painting in it. But the latter was so deeply impressed by its beauty and perfection that he is said to have exclaimed, "I will never paint any more." He died shortly after, and it is sometimes told, of envy; this fault, however, lay not in his amiable character, and he was old enough to die of his years.

ARISTIDE LOUIS.

A recently deceased pupil of Henriquet Dupont, of Paris.

paper, having all the brilliancy and delicacy of a proof. Such an impression was priced in 1839 at sixty thalers, (Nagler's Künstler-Lexicon, 8th vol., under Longhi,) before it had been sold at Mappes's auction for 70 $\frac{3}{4}$ florins.

The famous original picture, of the size of the engraving, is one of the principal ornaments of the Dresden Gallery, into which it passed with the collection of the Duke of Modena.

Lord Ward possesses a repetition, or rather a copy, which is by a Netherland painter, as the landscape part sufficiently shows, though it is a most charming picture.

36 RAPHAEL, pinx. Lo Spozalizio, (The Marriage of the Virgin according to the Apocryphal books of the Bible).

RARE AND BRILLIANT PROOF BEFORE LETTERS, i. e., before the coat-of-arms and dedication, and with the four lines of verses in open letters. The SECOND state of the plate.

One of the greatest works of modern engraving, and on which Longhi labored from 1812 to 1820. This engraving exists in the following five states, namely, FIRST: Artist's proofs, with merely the painter's and engraver's names; such an impression is now worth $750 in gold. SECOND: Proofs before letters, before the coat-of-arms and the dedication, and with the four lines of verses in open letters; impressions in this state are of extreme rarity. THIRD: Proofs, with numbers in ink within a circle at the bottom of the engraved portion of the plate, with the coat-of-arms and the dedication added, and with the four lines of verses in SHADED letters; 1200 were printed in this manner. Even these impressions are extremely scarce. FOURTH: Impressions without numbers, and before any inscription upon the temple; 1200 were printed in this manner. This state of the plate is somewhat scarce; a copy was recently priced by a dealer in this city at $100. FIFTH: With the following inscription upon the temple, "Raphael Urbinas, MDIHL." These later, and much retouched impressions have the address of Lissant, instead of that of Bardi.

The original picture is in the Gallery of the Brera, in Milan; its prototype, (by Pietro Perugino, the master of Raphael,) formerly in the Dome of Perugia, is now in the Museum at Caen, in Normandy.

Raphael painted his picture, the first to which he put a date, in 1504, for the church San Francesco in Citta di Castello, where it remained for nearly three centuries, until a General of a French division, Count Giuseppe Lechi, from Brescia, demanded it from the town, sword in hand, "as a present." From him it passed into the possession of Count Salazar, who bequeathed it to the Ospedale Maggiore in Milan, from which it was purchased by the Directors of the Brera.

The original picture is in the collection of Signor Brocca, of Milan.

The original picture is in the Gallery of the Louvre. It represents a dreamy looking youth with very fair hair and large liquid eyes, and is probably a portrait of some artist friend of Raphael rather than one of himself.

The PROOFS have the names of the painter and engraver under the socle, then an empty space, and below that, the names of the publisher and the printer. The COMMON PRINTS have in the above-mentioned space, this inscription, "Dessiné d'après un tableau de Raphael et gravé par Théodore Richomme." The original picture is in the Gallery of the Louvre. MORITZ STEINLA.

Born Moritz Muller at Steinla, in Hanover, 1791. He studied under Raphael Morghen, in Florence, and under Giuseppe Longhi, in Milan, and died, Professor at the Academy in Dresden, 1858.

- 63 HANS HOLBEIN, the younger, pinx. The Madonna of Burgomaster Meyer, of Basle. The Burgomaster and his Family are represented in devotion before the Virgin and Child. SUPERB PROOF BEFORE LETTERS, with only the painter's and engraver's names, and the coat-of-arms. Extremely scarce.

In the year 1633, Michel Le Blon bought the picture from a descendant of the Burgomaster. He was induced to sell it to Johann I. Lersert, of Amsterdam, for Queen Marie de Medici, who, however, never received it. From Lössert's estate it passed, for debt, into the hands of Avogrado, a banker in the same town, who left it by will to the Delfino family of Venice. In 1743, Count Algarotti bought for the Elector of Saxony, and it is now one of the chief ornaments of the Dresden Gallery. "In purity, dignity, humility, and intellectual grace, this exquisite Madonna has never been surpassed, not even by Raphael." — Mrs. Jameson.

- 64 RAPHAEL, pinx. Madonna di San Sisto, Dresden, 1847. SUPERB ENGRAVER'S PROOF upon India paper, and before any letters; with croquis below the left corner representing a female figure engraving, and a head, Steinla's own profile. Only a very few copies were printed in this state. EXTREMELY RARE.

The impressions upon INDIA paper in the above described state were the earliest printed. These were followed by copies upon WHITE paper which have the same marks, although they are later impressions. Such a copy was lately priced in this city at $350. PROOFS BEFORE LETTERS have the names of the painter and engraver, and are upon WHITE paper.

This incomparable picture was painted for the Gray Friars of the Order of St. Benedict, of the cloister of St. Sixtus, in Piacenza, as a drapery, a banner, to be carried round the church in procession, and that reason on canvas, which otherwise was seldom used instead of panel in the Roman and Tuscan schools.

It seems, however, to have been withdrawn from this use, as Vasari already found it secure on the principal altar of the church.

In 1754, Augustus III., Elector of Saxony, bought it, and it was replaced by an old copy by Paris Nogari. It is now the pride of the Royal Gallery of Dresden.

When the picture was cleaned by the celebrated Palmaroli in 1826, it was found that part of the curtain, under which the Virgin is represented, with the rod and rings, had been turned over to fit a frame; this was stretched out and made visible again on that occasion, and as Steinla's plate was engraved since, it shows the whole composition.

CHEVALIER PAOLO TOSCHI.

MADONNA DELLA SCALA.

SUPERB PROOF BEFORE LETTERS upon India paper. VERY RARE.

SPLENDIDLY framed, and under PLATE glass.

The picture was originally painted upon the wall of the house of a friend. On account of its beauty and virtues, it was much visited by devout worshippers. It was finally cut out of the wall and removed to a chapel consecrated to Sta. Maria della Scala, from which it was again removed, and is now, in a much injured condition, in the Gallery of the Academy at Parma.

The FRESCOS in the CONVENT of SAINT PAUL.

The chamber painted by Correggio in the Convent of St. Paul represents a Grotto of Diana, beneath the level of the ground, covered with a roof of verdure and vine foliage, having within sixteen oval apertures corresponding in number with the spaces interposed between the sections of the vaulted roof. From each of these ovals children are seen peeping in and out as they pass around the grotto. The composition is varied in each of the ovals. They bear various symbols or attributes of the Goddess, and implements of the chase. Under these medallions are as many niches, containing various small statues, and below, round the apartment, runs an elegant frieze. In one part of the chamber is a projecting chimney, and on this is painted the Divinity of the place in a car drawn by stags.
